UA Going Global: Micro-campus Concept

- A world-wide network of UA “micro-campuses” for the delivery of UA courses and degree programs on the campuses of existing universities around the world.
- Branded UA space, or “micro-campus,” on partner campus
- Degree from partner university + degree from UA
- Complete both degrees in no additional time
- Market-based tuition for accessibility and scalability
- Tuition shared with Partner
- Partner is responsible for marketing, student services, infrastructure and space, and local co-professors.
- Mission-Centered Benefits to the UA
 - Provide high-quality U.S. education to those around globe who currently lack access.
 - Build a Sustainable Model for International Education
 - Help build teaching capacity in countries with developing higher education systems.
 - Grow UA student populations, including a pipeline to Tucson-Based programs, both undergraduate and graduate
 - Expand the UA's global reach and global brand recognition.
