Project Description:

The FSP Public Health Internship is a full academic year experience from the Fall through Spring semester. The public health intern is expected to work 10 hours per week, with the option of in-person and remote hours at the discretion of the direct supervisor.

The public health intern will assist in the Hunter White Health Advocate Program, including the 10-week session and the three-credit course Health & Wellness in Greek Life. The intern will act as a preceptor for the three-credit course to gain knowledge on the health of this specific population. Responsibilities include helping research and create lectures for the course, surveying class participants, and creating deliverables based on collected survey data.

During the Fall semester, the intern will survey student participants on alcohol usage in Greek Life and analyze the data to create an alcohol-awareness campaign. During the Spring semester, the intern will survey participants and create a Community Health Needs Assessment.

The alcohol awareness campaign and the Community Health Needs Assessment will be the major deliverables, submitted and presented to the direct supervisor at the end of the corresponding semester. Additionally, the public health intern is highly encouraged to attend major health and wellness programming hosted by Fraternity & Sorority Programs, including:

- Safe Spring Break Symposium
- Great Greek Weekend
- Love Mom & Dad
