

Internship Description:

Global Health Consulting Intern

The intern will work closely with the President and Founder of Wolf Kirsten International Health Consulting and have the opportunity to experience all functions of global health consulting. The intern will assist with a variety of projects for all major clients as well as initiate new tasks. The intern will research current health trends around the world and participate in strategy development discussions.

The right candidate can successfully multi-task and manage multiple deadlines. Strong communication and writing skills are essential, as well as the ability to work independently and as a team. Creative problem solving and flexibility are also important skills.

The internship is based in Tucson, Arizona, with the possibility of conducting part of the internship remotely.

Requirements:

- Graduate level (or upper level undergraduate) background in health promotion
- Native speaker of English (or superior command of spoken and written English)
- Proficiency in another language preferred
- Interest in international health issues
- Appreciation for cultural differences and priorities

Openings:

On a rolling basis winter, spring, summer and fall.

Please apply to wk@wolfkirsten.com. Letter, curriculum vitae and English writing sample required. More information about Wolf Kirsten International Health Consulting can be found on the company's website: <http://wolfkirsten.com/>